building. A thorough facelifting costing an estimated $36,000 is planned.

Facelifting project marks library's 75th anniversary

The Sedalia Public Library, founded in 1901, is currently receiving its special 75th anniversary present — a thorough facelifting in the form of a $36,000 project designed to preserve its exterior.

The project consists of cleaning, tuckpointing and waterproofing. The building's limestone foundation is to be sandblasted and sealed with silicon. The upper portion of the structure, because it is composed of terra cotta, cannot be sandblasted and hence is being cleaned chemically and with air pressure and is being sealed with an epoxy coating.

Because of the extreme deterioration of the building's exterior, it may be necessary to apply a second protective coat over the exterior, librarian Donald Morton said. In any case, he explained, the overall project is a two-part one, with the second half to be completed next year. Similarly, one-half of the cost will be paid this year, with the remainder the following year when the project is finished.

Before deciding upon what work should be done to preserve the building's exterior, the Library Board contacted various organizations and individuals such as the National Paint and Varnish Institute in Washington, D.C. and Pratt and Lambert Co. in Pennsylvania. The project itself is being performed by the Central Waterproofing Co., Fayette.

In addition to cleaning and waterproofing the building, Morton and other library employees and all board members are emphasizing the history of the library this year. The local institution, it was noted, was the first public library in Missouri to receive a grant from the Andrew Carnegie Foundation.

Based on Sedalia's size, assessed valuation and population, Carnegie gave more funds to Sedalia's library than to any other in the country — $50,000. Also, Morton said, Carnegie customarily required local communities to contribute to their library funds at a rate equal to 10 per cent of his (Carnegie's) contribution. However, in the case of Sedalia, he only required an 8 per cent local match.

11 miles through East Sedalia

Chase ends in crash

By BILL ZIERES
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Some East Sedalia residents woke up early Tuesday morning to the sounds of sirens and squealing tires as two Pennsylvania men lead police on an 11-mile high-speed chase in a stolen truck through the eastern part of town.

The chase started about 5:50 a.m. Tuesday and ended minutes later when the two men lost control of the truck and hit a parked car at 14th and Ohio.

One of them, Thomas C. Mohler, 20, Lancaster, Pa., was listed in satisfactory condition at noon Tuesday at Bothwell Hospital suffering from an apparent drug overdose. The other, Alvin Davis, 20, Ephrata, Pa., was in the city jail pending formal charges.

Police Chief William Miller said Tuesday he was waiting to hear from the FBI on the possibility of federal charges of interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle. There is also the possibility that state charges of possession of a controlled substance could be filed against the two. They allegedly had some pills and marijuana in their possession when arrested.

The chase started when police observed a pick-up truck driving in a careless manner and attempted to stop it. Meanwhile a check of its license plates showed it had been stolen Nov. 6 from Herbert Miller, Thompsonstown, Pa.

Other police cars joined the chase and the truck was able to avoid three police roadblocks before the collision. While attempting to turn onto 14th from Ohio, the truck struck a parked station wagon, belonging to Frank Dowdoy, 1400 South Ohio.

The two men then attempted to flee on foot as police arrived.

Police caught one as he ran by Fillicetti's Laundry, 1501 South Ohio. About five minutes later, the other was found while attempting to hide in a stairwell at the Del Ray Apartments in the 1400 block of South Ohio.

A .357-caliber revolver was recovered under a car parked at the apartments, apparently thrown there by the man. A check of the gun showed it had been stolen in Ephrata, Pa. The other man had a .25-caliber pistol in his possession but police could not determine if the gun was stolen. A search of the truck turned up a large amount of ammunition for both guns.

A resident of the apartment building told police that she heard a shot fired but officers reported that they saw neither man fire his gun nor did police fire any shots.

Miller said that Mohler must have taken the overdose before his arrest because he was handcuffed immediately when police captured him and did not have a chance to take anything.

Neither man was injured in the collision but both the truck and car were extensively damaged.

Abortion financing upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a law that bars the use of Medicaid funds to pay for elective abortions, the federal government must continue paying for the abortions for the time being, the Supreme Court has ruled.

Without a hint of what they might decide in the future if the case eventually reaches them, the justices on Monday turned down a request by two senators and a representative that a federal judge's order for continued abortion payments be temporarily set aside.

U.S. District Judge John F. Dooling in Brooklyn, N.Y., last month struck down as unconstitutional a part of an appropriations act passed by Congress that banned federal funding for elective abortions. His ruling is binding throughout the nation.

The law's wording, introduced as an amendment by Rep. Henry J. Hyde, R-Ill., said that no money appropriated in Congress' $56.5 billion bill for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare "shall be used to perform abortions except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term."

The federal government each year pays about $50 million to states to finance about 300,000 abortions under Medicaid. About one million abortions are performed annually in the United States, health officials estimate. Payments for child delivery and post-natal care would be much higher, they estimate.

Dooling ruled that the act discriminates against poor women. He agreed with arguments presented by the New York Health and Hospitals Corp., Planned Parenthood of New York City, a physician who performs abortions and a 24-year-old pregnant woman who wanted an abortion.

The woman, Cora McRae, told Dooling that she is separated from her husband and would not be able to work to support her 4-year-old daughter unless she had an abortion.

While HEW Secretary F. David Mathews and other officials have indicated they intend to obey Dooling's order, the agency is reportedly readying an appeal.

In other action Monday, the court:

—Agreed to consider the claim of Ernest John Dobbett Jr., convicted of the torture killing of his 9-year-old daughter, that Florida cannot execute him because the state's death penalty law was not in effect when the crime was committed.

—Granted a review of a Maryland law that denies welfare benefits for children of fathers who strike, quit work or are fired for misconduct.

—Agreed to decide whether the Township of Willingboro, N.J., can prohibit "For Sale" signs on private premises.

Foreign policy direction

Carter election raises questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The election of Jimmy Carter has created what diplomats here describe as uncertainty about future U.S. foreign policy directions.

These diplomats, who asked not to be identified, say it's not easy to try to determine what to expect from an incoming president whose views have not been shaped by long years of service in Washington.

Ideologically, Carter is an enigma to diplomats here because he received advice from both liberals and conservatives and attacked President Ford from both sides during the campaign.

The diplomats' problem now is to try to sift out campaign rhetoric from statements of serious intent.

One reason that the foreign diplomats cited for their view of Carter is his insistence on opening up the decision-making process and on involvement of "the people" in foreign policy.

Carter's opposition to Ford administration policy in the Panama Canal negotiations, in foreign arms sales and in development of the B1 bomber coincided precisely with public sentiment as reflected by the findings of his pollster Patrick Caddell.

"Public opinion polls are not always the best guide to formulating policy," said one official. As for Carter's pledge to give the people a role in the policy process, the official said this is one promise Carter will probably have to abandon quickly.

Decisions on such issues as strategic arms limitation talks, and fisheries and commodity agreements "simply don't lend themselves to public involvement," he said.

There are other questions raised by diplomats about what the Carter administration will be like:

—On Korea, Carter has pledged a phased withdrawal of American troops over a four-to-five-year period and close consultation with Korea and Japan. But what if these countries regard a troop withdrawal as a destabilizing influence or if the Japanese interpret it as a weakening of the U.S. commitment to Japan's defense?

—On China, Carter charged the Ford administration with "frittering away" an opportunity for normalizing relations. But diplomats are wondering if he can move toward that goal without compromising his commitment to the "freedom and independence of Taiwan."

—On relations with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, both Ford and Carter have warned against imposing a major oil price increase at next month's OPEC meeting in Qatar. But has the American ability to influence OPEC declined as a result of Carter's campaign attacks on the Arab boycott of Israel and his criticism of U.S. arms shipments to such major oil suppliers as Saudi Arabia and Iran?

—Carter has pledged expanded ties with the developing countries, virtually all of which are under authoritarian rule and suppress political dissent. How can Carter establish closer links with dictatorships while fulfilling his commitment to expand U.S. efforts to protect human rights abroad?

The campaign cast a long shadow over many foreign policy issues.

The United States and Greece, for example, are just a few words away from reaching a new agreement governing U.S. base facilities in Greece. But Greece, cheered by Carter's victory over a president whom Greeks considered to be pro-Turkey, is expected to wait until after the inauguration to conclude the base negotiations.

The Soviet Union also has refused thus far to accept a month-old U.S. proposal to send career diplomat Malcolm Toon as U.S. ambassador to Moscow. Toon is regarded as an anti-Soviet hardliner, and officials say the Soviets may allow the U.S. proposal to languish for the next two months anticipating that the Carter administration may come up with a more acceptable choice.

U.S. officials also say Vietnam may hold off on any major decisions concerning normalization of relations with Washington until after the inauguration.

Flu inoculations set for Nov. 21, 22

The Pettis County swine flu inoculation clinics will be held Nov. 21 and 22, a Sunday and Monday, at the National Guard Armory in Sedalia, it was announced Monday night.

County health nurse Mrs. Dianne Pilant said the office of the State Department of Health, District 3, informed her earlier Monday that enough vaccine will be available on those dates to inoculate all eligible persons in the county.

Jim Reed, who is helping supervise the clinics for the Sedalia Jaycees, said Tuesday the two sessions will be held from 1 to 8 p.m. Nov. 21 and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 22. The eight-hour duration of the daily clinics is shorter than the originally-estimated 12 hours.

The shortened hours was based on the experience of other counties which have already administered their inoculation programs, Mrs. Pilant said.

She stressed that the clinics will be held only on these two days for residents of Pettis County and that Sedalia will be the only location in which the vaccinations will be administered.

Persons can also go to other counties to receive the vaccinations, although this is not recommended, she said, since each county receives a certain number of doses based on its own population.

State officials have informed Mrs. Pilant it will take nearly 23,000 doses of the vaccine to accommodate the residents in Pettis County over 18 years old. Slightly over 11,000 residents, those under 18, will not be included in the immunization program.

Mrs. Pilant noted that Pettis County was in the second half of the counties in District 3 in line to receive the swine flu doses.

Sedalia doctors received another 700 doses of the vaccine about a week and a half ago, bringing the total doses received here to 3,500. Of those, 3,000 doses are for persons who are chronically ill, and the remaining 500 are for those 18 to 65 years old.

Reed stated he has received word that "hundreds" of volunteers will be available for the two-day clinic and added "that we can always use more, we will never have too many." Currently, he explained, plans are being made for volunteers to work four-hour shifts. However, if enough volunteers work, the shift lengths could be reduced somewhat.

Persons seeking to volunteer their services should contact the county health department in the Pettis County Courthouse by calling 827-1130 or by visiting the office.

Groups that have already expressed their support of the clinic include the Altrusa Club, The Sedalia Rod and Gun Club Wives organization, the Bothwell Hospital Auxiliary, all local Parent-Teacher Associations (PTA's) and the Jaycees.

A training session for volunteers, to be led by Mrs. Pilant, Pettis County nurse Mary Jo Bellmer, several local Jaycees and a representative from the State Division of Health, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 16 at the Armory.

Reed also said he plans to hold a news conference either Tuesday or Wednesday night to elaborate on upcoming plans.

Probation is approved for Mrs. Koppenbrink

Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Koppenbrink, 50, Higginsville, was placed on five years probation Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court. The sentencing brought to an end her two-year legal battle that began with her being charged with the first degree murder of her physician husband Dr. Walter E. Koppenbrink, Jr.

An eight-man, four-woman Pettis County jury, hearing the case on a change of venue from Lafayette County, found Mrs. Koppenbrink guilty of manslaughter June 24. Though the charge filed against her was first degree murder, the jury was given the option of finding her guilty of that charge, second degree murder, manslaughter or not guilty.

The trial was in connection with the Nov. 13, 1974 death of Mrs. Koppenbrink's husband, whose body she found on the family room floor of their Higginsville home.

Originally authorities thought Dr. Koppenbrink died of a heart attack.

However, an autopsy the day after his death revealed that Dr. Koppenbrink died of some 10 to 15 injuries to his head.

In sustaining the defense request for probation, Judge Frank E. Meyer told Mrs. Koppenbrink in the courtroom Monday afternoon that three factors supported the motion.

Those factors included the "very tenuous grounds on which this conviction is based," the fact that "I could not look you in the face if I sent you down and two years from now the court above me told me there was not enough evidence to convict," and the unanimous recommendation of Dr. Koppenbrink's family that probation be granted.

Lafayette County Prosecuting Attorney James Lauderdale did not oppose probation.

Under terms of probation, Mrs. Koppenbrink will be under the supervision of a probation officer and will not be allowed to leave the state without the permission of the court.

At wit's end

Football revenge

By ERMA BOMBECK

I have found that whenever a man wants to strike back at a woman for her boredom with football, he will say, "You don't understand the game."

I understand the game. I also understand that football games last longer than some marriages.

I understand that if I have to sit through four more months of announcing news bulletins during the commercial ("PAPER TRAINING DOG 10 — MOM 0," "KIDS BEST SHOES RAINED OUT," "MOTHER-IN-LAW LAST DRAFT CHOICE SIGNS ON FOR WEEKEND") I'll go crazy.

There's only one way I know to fight back and that's on my turf. After watching four games in a row last Sunday, my husband groped his way out to the dinner table.

"Where's dinner?" he grumbled.

"Hi there, fans in the stands," I said speaking into a spatula. "We've got an exciting evening planned for you tonight, but first let's hear from our man in the freezer."

"This is Frank Sirloin here, and this is the big one we've been looking for. Erma Microwave is looking for her first winning streak in 5,356 tries and tonight it's Frozen Hamburger vs. Leftovers."

"Will you just put the food on the table?" he sighed.

"When we talked to Erma earlier, the game plan was to go outside, but since she moves pretty well inside, she's decided to go for a man-on-man situation. We'll ask her about how she expects to pick up any more yardage with the leftovers, but first we'll go to the bench where she'll fill us in on some of the injuries."

"That's cute," said my husband. "Now can we eat?"

"You may remember the string beans that received two incomplete passes at the last meal, and a package of buns that was lateraled and picked up by the dog in yesterday's luncheon scrimmage. Starting today will be the George Blanda of the team, Cottage Cheese, which may retire after today's encounter. There'll be more on injuries, but now we're getting a signal to go out on the field where 148 cheerleaders are spelling relief — that's R-O-L-A-I-D-S."

"I get the drift," he grumbled. "The meal is getting cold."

"Don't be ridiculous," I said, grabbing the plate out of his hand. "You've only had it passed under your nose once. Next time around is in slow motion, then instant replay, then stop action, now camera three so you can see it from the bottom...then later on the six o'clock news, and two hours from now, it will be shown again on Leftover Greats of the Century, but now...oops, the casserole fell to the floor. Sorry, gang, the fumble was sloppy, but it's only the first in four..."

It could cost me the marriage, but it was worth it.

Worries over varicose veins

Dear Dr. Lamb — I need your advice concerning my varicose veins. I went to a surgeon this past week who specializes in varicose veins. I asked his advice on a bump that I had on a vein in my leg. He told me I should be operated on for my veins.

I would like to get someone else's opinion before going ahead and getting the operation. I never had a vein in my leg until I had my first child — now 20 years old.

My doctor who delivered my children always told me not to worry about the varicose veins because they were from pregnancy. Now after the last child (9 years old) my veins are worse.

Dr. Lamb, my baby doctor was one of the best in the field. Now I realize that he should have told me to take better care of my varicose veins or he should have told me to see a specialist in that field. Now I can't seem to have faith in what the doctor says.

I am concerned that this new doctor is only interested in operating because he is a surgeon. Do you think I should get another doctor's opinion or should I go ahead and have my veins operated on? Is it a serious operation? I know my legs would probably look a lot better.

Dear Reader — There seems to be an inherited weakness to develop varicose veins. Commonly they first appear during pregnancy. The veins in the legs drain into larger veins in the abdomen. During pregnancy the baby presses against these large veins and prevents the normal flow of blood back to the heart. The pressure builds up in the veins and causes them to become overdistended. The tiny valves in the leg veins cease to work and you have varicose veins. They usually get worse with each succeeding pregnancy.

The lump you mention is probably what we call a "blow-out." There are connecting veins between those you see on the outside of the leg and those veins deep inside your leg. When the valves in the connecting veins fail a spot sticks out which is an enlarged spot in the vein.

Can't someone do something to slow the rise in health care costs? Yes. The Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plan can—and is!

A Blue Cross and Blue Shield subscriber often never sees his hospital or doctor bill. It goes directly to the Plan offices.

This is convenient. But when you don't see the bill, it's easy to forget that the cost of health care must be paid for by subscribers' dues. Enough dues dollars must be taken in to meet the cost of benefits going out. When health care costs go up, dues go up.

Some factors we can't control — like inflation, or malpractice insurance rates, or beneficial, but expensive, medical technology.

But we are doing everything else we can to keep dues increases to a minimum.

HERE'S WHAT KANSAS CITY BLUE CROSS AND BLUE SHIELD IS DOING TO HELP SLOW THE RISE IN COSTS.

With the cost of inpatient, hospital care averaging $160 a day, the Plan, with the help of hospitals, doctors and subscribers, is developing ways to:

- Keep inpatient hospital stays as short as possible.
- Encourage greater use of outpatient facilities.
- Assure that all services rendered are medically necessary, and reasonably priced.

1. EXPANDED OUT-PATIENT PROGRAMS.

• Minor Surgery. Our subscribers have always received benefits for surgery done in the doctor's office or the hospital outpatient department. Today "same day" or "ambulatory" surgery makes many more surgical procedures available on this cost-saving outpatient basis.

• Pre-admission Testing. Subscribers scheduled for hospital admission can have necessary lab work done before admissions, saving at least one day's cost of their hospital stay.

• Diagnostic Tests. Inpatient hospital care is often not needed to diagnose a patient's condition. So, we're encouraging more diagnostic tests in the doctor's office, independent laboratories, or the hospital outpatient department.

2. CLAIM REVIEW.

We're reviewing claims much more carefully. We want to make sure every health care dollar buys only medical care that is needed, and buys it as economically as possible.

3. CONTROLS ON PAYMENTS TO DOCTORS AND HOSPITALS.

To help stabilize medical costs, we review fees annually with participating hospitals and doctors. It's agreed that these fees will not increase for one year.

4. COORDINATION OF BENEFITS.

When subscribers have coverage under more than one group health plan, we coordinate all their program benefits so they receive payment up to, but not more than, 100% of covered charges. This saves all subscribers about $2 million annually.

5. AREAWIDE HEALTH PLANNING SUPPORT.

A new hospital bed costs from $40,000 to $60,000 so we support planning which prevents the financial drain of excess hospital beds and duplicated facilities. New hospital facilities must be approved by health planning agencies before they are eligible for Blue Cross benefits.

Efforts such as these already save subscribers millions of dollars annually.

We can't stop all dues increases, of course, but we will continue our efforts to cut down the frequency and the amount of each one.

All it takes is all of us working together. We can do it.

Together, we can help keep health care costs down.

the Agriculture Department, which had handled the forest fire prevention program through its U.S. Forest Service agency. Officials said the old Smokey died "in his retirement cage" at the zoo.

Congress in a joint resolution two years ago specified that the bear's remains be shipped to Capitán, N.M. Smokey will be buried in several days at the Smokey Bear Historical Park there.

The original Smokey was found in 1950 as a cub, badly burned from a forest fire that swept through part of the Lincoln National Forest.

He was found clinging to a charred tree, was treated for burns and was flown to Santa Fe, N.M., for further treatment and was gradually nursed back to health. In June 1950, Smokey was elected as the first living symbol of the forest fire prevention campaign which had started in 1942.

Soon afterward, Smokey was flown here and in a brief ceremony was installed officially at the zoo.

The new Smokey Bear has a similar background, also found in the Lincoln National Forest. However, the new cub, although abandoned and half-starved, did not suffer from severe burns as his predecessor did.

Carter makes contact with congressmen

ATLANTA (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter already has personally contacted most congressional leaders in an effort to smooth the way for his administration and the legislative programs he will offer later.

Among those contacted are chieftains of the powerful taxwriting committees. One such leader, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, says Carter's congressional liaison man "is ready to meet" for talks on the President-elect's tax reform plans.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax laws originate, also has been contacted, and Carter is making plans to meet with top House and Senate leaders.

Frank Moore, Carter's liaison with Congress, said the President-elect made many contacts before the election, starting with the leadership and key committee chairmen. "He's still calling. He's down to the subcommittee level now," Moore said in interview at Carter headquarters here.

Moore said Carter also plans the same kind of personal contacts with some of the Republican leadership and ranking GOP committee members.

One reason for Carter's swift movement is the deadline facing him if he hopes to get his own stamp on the government soon. The first test is to have his budget proposals before Congress by mid-February or live with the budget proposals that President Ford will submit in January.

Since Carter's budget alternatives cannot be suddenly sprung on Congress in February if they hope to pass in the spring or summer, the groundwork already is being laid.

It has been Moore's job to seek out congressional views on such things as economic legislation and to discover legislators who might work with the Carter camp in anticipating options now for future legislation.

Carter aides are known to have been working with interested Hill leaders on the prospect of an economic stimulus, such as a tax cut, if the economy is still lagging in January when he takes office.

Another topic on which Moore said Congress is being brought in is the some 2,200 administration jobs the new president must fill by appointment. No fewer than 878 of them are subject to Senate approval.

Youth granted change of venue

Carl Eugene Johnson, 16, 516 East 12th, entered a plea of "not guilty" to charges of tampering with a motor vehicle and was granted a change of venue to Morgan County Monday in Circuit Court.

Johnson, a juvenile, was certified by Judge Frank E. Meyer to stand trial as an adult on four counts of tampering with a motor vehicle. He allegedly stole four cars in Pettis County between May 23 and July 30.

Johnson filed a motion seeking a change of venue Nov. 1.

Authority members challenge some findings in HUD report

The Sedalia Housing Authority disagrees with some findings of a "community services review" by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and voted Monday night to answer the report and seek a clarification from two community service advisors who wrote it.

Clyde Robinson, a member of the authority, voted against releasing the report to The Democrat-Capital. However, the other three members attending Monday's regular monthly meeting of the authority overruled him. Robinson said he felt the report was "bad publicity." He and other members also indicated they did not feel the report was comprehensive and accurate.

One finding of the report seemed to be in conflict with a report presented earlier in the meeting. The HUD report claims the authority has no social services policy. However, a "tenant relations" report was read into the record outlined which detailed efforts of the newly-hired tenant relations assistant. The tenant relations report said over 85 per cent of the authority's 154 tenants had been contacted in an effort to determine their needs.

The Rev. Marvin Albright, housing authority director, noted that HUD's finding that the authority does not allow "resident input" in its decisions did not take into consideration the authority's efforts to organize a tenant group for such input.

The report also said "police protection is not available to residents of the family site." Mr. Albright disputed that statement, noting the authority has "open communications" with the Sedalia police department and that protection is "adequate." The police make regular patrols in this area and answer calls, whether from the residents or the authority, he said.

Other HUD findings included charges that the authority: — "Does not work with local agencies in the joint financing of needed facilities."

Guerrillas slay 6 blacks in Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Black guerrillas tied the hands of at least six black road workers behind their backs today, robbed them and killed them with machine-gun fire, informed sources in the border town of Umtali reported.

The attack took place in the Honde valley, near the Mozambique border and about 100 miles east of Salisbury. The sources said the workers were tarring a road.

Another gang of guerrillas from Mozambique sprayed a nearby tribal village with machine guns, killing two black villagers and a guerrilla who was drinking beer, the sources said. Security forces found about 700 used cartridge cases in the village.

The sources also reported that government forces have killed 18 surviving guerrillas of a gang that murdered 12 black laborers in southeast Rhodesia in early October.

The guerrillas are fighting to overthrow the white minority regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Strauss to resign as Demo chairman

DALLAS (AP) — Robert Strauss says he will relinquish the chairmanship of the National Democratic party on Jan. 21, one day after Jimmy Carter's inauguration as president.

But Strauss, who has held the post for four years, said he will continue to help Carter with cabinet selections and other appointments.

Strauss said he plans to return to his private Dallas law practice after he finishes his party work. But he declined to rule out the possibility that he would accept a presidential appointment if one were offered.

Man is arraigned on weapon charge

Jessie G. Baise, 67, Fulton, was arraigned in Magistrate Court Tuesday morning on felony charges of exhibiting a dangerous and deadly weapon.

Baise, who was arrested in Hughesville Monday evening by Pettis County sheriff's officers, is charged in connection with an Oct. 27 incident at the home of his wife, located near Hughesville.

According to reports, Baise threatened his son-in-law, Noel Wayne James, with a loaded shotgun. Baise and his wife were reportedly having marital problems at the time of the incident.

Baise remains in the county jail in lieu of $3,500 bond, pending his preliminary hearing on Nov. 24.

More names added to veterans parade

Additional details regarding the annual local Veterans Day parade, to be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the downtown district, have been finalized.

It was previously announced that State Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, will be the guest speaker for the memorial service which will be held immediately following the parade.

Also scheduled to participate will be the Rev. Roger Williams, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church, and Capt. Robert Quinn, local Salvation Army representative. Traditional memorial wreaths will be placed on the Pettis County Courthouse lawn by Mrs. Hazel Morgan and Mrs. Alberta Buckner, both Gold Star mothers of the American war mothers.

The parade itself will assembly at Main and Ohio Streets, proceed south on Ohio to Seventh, east on Seventh to Lamine, north on Lamine to Fifth and then disband.

SFCC awaits decision on accreditation

A final decision on whether to grant State Fair Community College full accreditation with the North-Central Association of Colleges and Schools will be made late Wednesday morning, it was announced Tuesday.

The college is currently undergoing its final inspection by a four-man North-Central evaluation team composed of educational administrators from accredited colleges in the 19-state North Central district.

The four men arrived in Sedalia Sunday and will end their inspection of the college Wednesday. All phases of the college, including its administrative structure, faculty, instructional program, community service offerings, continuing education program, student services, financial condition and physical facilities are being evaluated, it was reported.

College officials began the steady drive toward attaining final North-Central accreditation almost as soon as the college first opened in September, 1968.

Offices to close for Veterans Day

The Pettis County Courthouse, the county Family Services Office and the Missouri Job Services offices are among the offices scheduled to close Thursday in honor of Veterans Day.

The Municipal Building, Federal Building and other local federal offices closed in October in commemoration of the holiday. Thursday, however, is the actual date set aside to observe Veterans Day, which originally commemorated the close of World War I.

The local Post Office will operate on its regular schedule Thursday.

FBI indictments draw no comment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department spokesmen refused comment today on a report that the government may seek indictments against 10 to 20 per cent of former FBI officials.

The New York Times reported today that department lawyers had concluded they could support charges that the persons under investigation knew of or approved illegal investigative techniques.

The Times quoted federal sources as saying prosecutors in the department's civil rights division had found evidence of illegal wiretaps, bugs, burglaries, mail openings and other practices.

The sources told the Times that a memorandum on the subject was expected to be submitted to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi this week. The newspaper said the lawyers were expected to recommend that Levi permit them to seek indictments against some or all of those named.

Button pictures are striking

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Sylvia can use that collection of buttons to make "pictures". I had one made many years ago that is in an antique black and gold frame. This "picture" is a basket of flowers. The basket was made with old underwear buttons, though any kind that look alike or are similar could be used. The basket could even be of stripes or plaids. The pretty colorful buttons are used to make the flowers. These can be sewn or glued, depending on the type of button, to a black cloth background that is stretched over heavy cardboard. A car, plane or rocket design could be made for a boy's room and a doll or other appropriate design made for a girl. I am very proud of mine and it is a real conversation piece. — MRS. E.O.P.

Recipe for Curry Zucchini Soup

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

COMPANY SUPPER
RUTH CONRAD
BATEMAN'S
CURRY ZUCCHINI SOUP
One of the most successful recipes we have tried.
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large onion, chopped

1 apple, peeled, cored and chopped
2 teaspoons curry powder
1 quart chicken broth
1/4 cup uncooked white rice
2 cups diced, unpeeled zucchini (2 to 3 medium)
1/2 teaspoon salt, or to taste
1 cup milk
1/4 cup heavy cream (optional)
1 tablespoon thinly sliced natural skin almonds, toasted

Heat butter in heavy saucepan or soup kettle. Add onions and apples and cook, stirring frequently, until they are soft. Sprinkle with curry powder, and stir and cook a few seconds. Pour in the chicken broth. Heat to boiling, drop in rice and zucchini. Season with salt (the amount depends on the saltiness of the broth). Cover pan and simmer until rice and zucchini are soft and tender, about 30 minutes. Pour into blender (in 2 batches, if necessary) and whirl until smooth. Return to pan and add milk. Heat until flavors blend. Taste and adjust seasonings as needed. Stir in cream, if used, just before serving. Ladle into warm bowls and top each with a few almond slices. Makes 4 to 5 servings. ## Doctor enjoys nurturing

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Cyrille Halkin laughs when she recalls walking down the hall of a Manhattan hospital as an intern back in 1946.

"Some of the elderly men didn't know what to call me, so they'd yell out 'Gollie,' 'Nurse,' and I was startled. I wasn't used to hearing this."

Now that she's known as Dr. Halkin, the pediatrician, and as the first woman vice president of the New York Medical College, things have changed a little, she says.

Over the last 30 years she became a wife and a mother, and in a light moment adds that she only recently discovered that she's an "earth mother" of sorts.

The "earth mother" concept might sound odd coming from a college vice president, but Dr. Halkin says that's how she approaches her job.

"I just really like people. I think of my work as a doctor and as a person as an all-embracing effort. Reaching out, nurturing, healing... from the basic family unit up through the work of the medical college and the lives it touches."

"This is why I chose pediatrics as a specialty. My personal bent is towards nurturing."

Dr. Halkin, who says she "long antedates the women's lib movement," was one of a dozen women to graduate from the New York Medical College in 1945.

"From then on, I made a commitment to not only participate in medicine to the best of my ability, but also to use my assets as a woman. The sensitivity, compassion and a little more thoughtfulness that I think women have are a great help in medicine," she explains.

The women in her family were achievers, she adds. "They never stopped along the way. And I've always felt that anything a man can do, I can do too."

Dr. Halkin officially became vice president for development at the college in January, 1976. Working on the executive level, she notes, "is still people to people. It's just on a larger scale."

The 54-year-old physician says her job is to help develop plans for the medical school in two areas — its city campus in Manhattan and the suburban Valhalla, N.Y., campus.

She has her own private practice and has been teaching at NYMC since 1949.

Behind the figures on unemployment

The national unemployment rate figured prominently in the presidential election. Jimmy Carter used the statistics to advantage to show that the Ford administration was fighting inflation at the expense of putting millions of people out of jobs.

While the employment picture is far from rosy, neither is it as bleak as Carter claimed. In October the jobless rate stood at 7.9 per cent, but behind these figures are some little-known facts.

When one thinks of the jobless, the image comes to mind of a destitute father trying to keep the wolf from his family's door. Yet in September, only 5.4 per cent of the heads of households were without jobs. For all men 20 and over, the rate stood at 6.1 per cent.

Unemployment statistics have zoomed largely as a result of the big influx into the job market of women and teenagers. Of the women 20 and over seeking work, 7.5 per cent can't find it. And among teenagers, the unemployment rate is 18.6 per cent.

Many of these women have entered the labor force in recent years (They now account for 36 per cent of that force, compared to 29 per cent in 1956.), competing for jobs that were previously considered "men's work." A large percentage of the teenagers are looking only for part-time work. In fact, the national unemployment rate includes fulltime students seeking part-time jobs.

Among blacks and other minorities, the jobless rate is 12.7 per cent. This is also one of the fastest-growing segments of the population, which makes it doubly difficult to lower the percentage.

In short, the number of work-seeking Americans is growing faster than the economy can provide jobs. Some economists today say that in view of all these trends, the "full employment" standard should be raised from 4 per cent to 5 per cent.

The national unemployment picture is much more complex than a simple numerical figure. Solutions to that problem also are going to have to take into account the changes in the U.S. job picture that have occurred over the last 20 years.

Washington humor bullish on Jimmy

WASHINGTON—A meeting of the American Society of Humorists, Satirists and Political Cartoonists was held in the basement of the First Baptist Church of Washington last Wednesday morning to discuss the effects of the election on our profession.

Buchwald

Everyone was bullish about the results, believing that Jimmy Carter would provide us with excellent material for the next four years. (Our society always asks what our country can do for us, not what we can do for our country.)

"Any guy who says 'I will never lie to you,'" said one cartoonist. "can't be all bad."

"I'm sorry for Gerry Ford," said another cartoonist, "but I needed Carter's teeth. No one ever knew whom I was drawing when I sketched Ford."

A political satirist said, "The beauty of Carter is that he's the first President we've had that we know lusts after women in his heart. That in itself is a big plus. We've had Presidents who did it and Presidents who didn't do it. But this is the first President we'll have who doesn't do it but thinks about it a lot."

"What I'm looking forward to," said another political satirist, "is the family. Billy Carter, Jimmy's brother, Miss Lillian and Amy, his daughter, should keep us in business for a year."

A political cartoonist said, "And don't forget we have Sunday school and Plains, Ga., to work with. All we have to draw is a peanut and a Bible and everyone in the country will know whom we are talking about."

"Carter's Administration could be a Camelot for humorists and cartoonists," someone said.

"Of course, we're going to miss Rockefeller, someone else said. "Fritz Mondale is a nice guy, but he's no Rockefeller."

"You can say that again," a columnist said. "But then again Rockefeller was no Agnew."

"You can say that again."

"What are we going to do with Mondale?" a cartoonist asked.

Another cartoonist said, "When we draw him we'll have to write on his coat, 'Fritz Mondale, vice president of the United States.'"

"Dole was easier. All you had to do was draw a guy who looked like Nixon, holding a hatchet in his hand, and everyone knew who he was."

"I don't want to throw a wet blanket on this meeting," another cartoonist said, "but do you realize we're not going to have Henry Kissinger to kick around any more?"

"I forgot that," someone said. "What are we going to do without Kissinger? He was great for laughs."

"And so easy to draw."

I said, "I'm sick about losing Henry. He put bread on our table."

"There'll never be another Kissinger," someone said.

A stand-up comedian tried to cheer us up. "Forget Kissinger. We've got Pat Moynihan and S.I. Hayakawa in the Senate. They could make up for Henry. We never expected Kissinger to last forever."

"It's funny. I did," I said.

The president of the society stood up. "Can we get on with the business of this meeting? I propose we send a telegram of congratulations to Jimmy Carter and wish him well and tell him that if he makes as many boo-boos in the White House as he did in the campaign, he'll get no complaints from us."

"I second it," someone said.

"All those in favor say aye. Opposed? The ayes have it. Herb Block will now lead us in the closing prayer."

Damage report on GOP

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — What happens now to the Republican party? What now becomes of the conservative cause?

Some hopeful and optimistic things can be said, and I mean to say them in a moment, but for the record let this be said first of all: We got clobbered. There is no point in attempting to paper over the damage. As the returns trickled in last week, Republican observers knew the anguish of MacDuff. Ford defeated, Buckley lost, Brock lost, Taft lost. All our pretty ones! All our pretty chickens at one fell swoop!

Kilpatrick

It was bloody carnage. To lose the White House is to lose the greatest prize of all, but loss of the presidency was merely the first and worst of the Republican reverses. The prospect in the House of Representatives will be felt almost as keenly. At this writing, it appears that the GOP made no net gain in the House whatever. The 43 seats that were lost in 1974, for the most part, were lost again a week ago. It is a freshman's first hurdle that is hardest: second-term representatives have an easier time thereafter.

A few weeks will elapse before a comprehensive picture can be drawn of political changes at the state and local levels. Preliminary figures offer the Republicans no encouragement. Until last week, it was remarked that the Republican Governors Conference could barely make up three tables of bridge; the Republicans held 13 governorships. Now the conference can work up precisely three tables of bridge; the Republicans are down to 12.

One loss in particular will be grievously felt. In the defeat of New York's Sen. James L. Buckley, conservatives lost their best and brightest prospect for 1980. In his first term, Buckley had won the respect and the admiration of colleagues on both sides of the aisle. He remains a man of high principle and great capacity for public service — but he is now a man without a forum. He got licked. In this wound, the party suffers the most unkind cut of all.

And yet, and yet... Without playing Pollyanna or sucking on sour grapes, it is possible to find a brighter side. No election that dumps Tunney of California and Hartke of Indiana can be seen as wholly bad. The Senate that meets in January may even be a tad more conservative than the Senate of the past two years. The protection afforded the minority by the filibuster rule is not likely to be further weakened.

Because of the overwhelming Democratic majorities, liberally oriented in both chambers, Carter presumably will get most of the bad bills he wants — bills that Ford had vetoed. During a honeymoon period, we are likely to see a federal makework jobs bill, a bill to repeal the right-to-work authorization in Taft-Hartley, a consumer advocacy agency, and so on. But a Democratic party that now bears the whole of the executive and legislative responsibility may suddenly discover some virtues in fiscal prudence.

The Republican party will survive, and in the absence of bold leadership under another label, it probably will survive under the old banner. The defeat of Gerald Ford ought to put Watergate finally to rest. The ugliest spectres have now been exorcised. A new Republican generation will emerge, both in Congress and in the states. On college campuses, where rebel causes provide a sweet allure, it would not be surprising to see a surge of young Republicanism. Down with everything that's up! The cry has much appeal.

Last week's returns cannot rationally be read as a repudiation of conservatism generally. The Ford-Carter race was too close to provide a liberal "mandate." Most of the House elections turned more on personalities and local issues than on broad questions of political philosophy. Come January, conservatives will still be doing a brisk business at the same old stand.

And to wind up on a cheerful note: There is something pleasantly refreshing about the shedding of heavy responsibility. With Ford's defeat, Republicans lay their burden down. For the next four years, the Democratic party will have it all. If the Democrats' programs work — if their efforts produce peace, prosperity, public contentment, an end to inflation, greater personal freedom — if the Democrats achieve all these things, they will be entitled to all the credit. If they don't, they can have all the blame.

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Virginia's powerful Byrd clan, headed by Sen. Harry Byrd Jr., has quietly helped to obstruct a plan to recruit more unemployed Americans this year to pick their apple crop. Instead, they brought in work crews from Jamaica.

Under the law, foreign workers cannot be certified for employment in this country until it can be proved that no Americans can be found to do the work. Rodney Turner, an official of the Virginia State Employment Commission, thought that enough American labor could be found to harvest most of the Shenandoah apple crop. He proposed a plan to recruit more American migrant workers.

The Byrds have always dominated the Virginia apple industry. The senator's son, Harry F. Byrd III, formally heads the Frederick County Growers Association. The association bitterly opposed Turner's plan which, therefore, was never implemented.

Turner's reward for his enterprise was to be eased off the state employment commission. He is now back running his dairy farm near Roanoke, Va.

We heard, meanwhile, not only that the Byrds are exploiting their Jamaican pickers but that the working conditions are substandard.

To check out the story, we sent our roving reporter, Hal Bernton, to the Byrd orchards.

Posing as a drifter, Bernton signed on with the picking crew. It was work for a circus performer. He balanced himself precariously on the top rungs of a 22-foot ladder, reached with both hands into the upper branches and stuffed apples into a canvas bag slung from his neck. As the bag became weighted with apples, the balancing act became more breath-taking.

To pick apples fast enough to earn a decent salary, Bernton reported, "a man's hands must remain in constant motion." The crew chief, a lumpy woman, with a kindly smile and crafty eyes, strode up and down the rows of trees while the men picked.

She was backstopped by an ample, affable husband, whose mood occasionally could turn ugly. "I'm like a rattlesnake right now," he would warn no one in particular, chomping menacingly on a cheap cigar. "When he's got them coils rattling and his head cocked back, you know he means business. You know he's about to strike. Well, I'm about to strike."

Earlier this year, Bernton infiltrated the migrant work force in Southern Florida and described the shocking abuse of the stoop laborers. But on the Byrd farm, he found the living and working conditions far better.

The labor camp consisted of two narrow, L-shaped, cinderblock barracks on a gentle rise. The rooms, though small, had heaters and clean bedding. At the edge of the woods was an outhouse and a washroom, with hot showers. Bernton bunked with a thin, sickly man, who had come to the Byrd farm from a Baltimore flophouse.

The meals, which cost the workers $30 a week out of their earnings, were wholesome. The Jamaicans ate West Indian cooking in a separate mess hall. On Saturday afternoons, the pickers bought bootleg beer and port wine from the crewleader at inflated prices. The Jamaicans were the best workers. They swarmed over the trees with relentless efficiency. Most of them shunned the Saturday booze. As one explained his abstinence to Bernton: "I don't drink the stuff, man. I got a wife and family back in Jamaica. Money is hard to come by there. I plant the yam, harvest the mango, banana and breadfruit."

The Puerto Rican pickers were more exuberant than efficient. They raced around the camp, whooping it up, bursting into sudden songs. At night, they gathered at the end of the cinderblock barracks. One would start it off with a song. Then another would tap a Latin beat on the drainpipe. Another would leap from his seat on a trash can, lift the lid dramatically in the air and then bring it down with the resounding crash of a giant symbol — all in time to the music.

They were better at rhythm-making, however, than picking apples. But in answer to the growers' complaints, a Puerto Rican official told Bernton bitterly: "You can't tell me our people aren't capable of picking apples. We feel the growers never wanted our people in the first place. The workers are supposed to have 60 hours of training before their productivity is judged."

"We're all U.S. citizens, and our unemployment rate is over 20 per cent. This costs the U.S. taxpayers in unemployment benefits and food stamps. Another thing, we try to monitor the working condition of all our workers and make sure they are not mistreated. The Jamaican government isn't able to do that."

VETERANS DAY

Nov. 11, 1918

Nov. 11, 1976

A TIME TO REFLECT!

A TIME TO REFLECT ON A NATION AT PEACE! That's right! We indeed have a lot to be thankful for in this great Bicentennial Year of our Nation. We are at peace with the rest of the world, in the sense that no American lives are being lost in overseas combat, at the present time.

BUT, WE DARE NOT FORGET THOSE LOYAL SOLDIERS who took up arms, in the finest tradition of the early Minutemen 200 years ago, to win that foundation for individual liberty and the freedom we now enjoy.

IT DID NOT COME EASILY! Today's veterans, around the world, can tell you that. Today's citizens, here at home, know that only so well. Some of them have experienced the tragedies of war in the closest, deepest manner possible . . . THE LOSS OF A LOVED ONE! Or, maybe it was a personal friend. A father! A brother! A sister!

ON THIS VETERANS DAY, 1976, we salute all veterans in appreciation for their service in both war and peace.

Cincinnati comes alive in 3rd quarter for win

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, Paul Brown's last pet project, have come of age in the National Football League.

"We're at the point of maturity where we can play with anybody. In fact, man-for-man I thought we were the better team tonight," said fullback Boobie Clark, who helped the Bengals overcome a poor start as Cincinnati beat the Los Angeles Rams 20-12 in a nationally televised game.

The Bengals, now 7-2 and leaders in the American Conference Central Division, overcame their worst first half in years to knock off the powerful Rams in a battle between teams harboring Super Bowl aspirations. The Rams dropped to 6-2-1, but still lead the National Conference West.

The victory kept Cincinnati on course for its crucial showdown Nov. 28 against rejuvenated Pittsburgh, which still is clinging to hopes of a third straight Super Bowl title.

"Pittsburgh is not the only team with momentum going," said Clark, who celebrated his 26th birthday with two touchdowns in triggering a 20-point third-quarter that sank the Rams. "We're looking forward to meeting them."

The Bengals, who suppressed emotion under perfectionist Paul Brown, who built the franchise from scratch eight years ago, are whooping it up under new Coach Bill Johnson.

Looking offensively inept in the first half, the Bengals regrouped. "Basically, we were stopping ourselves," said Johnson.

"We had an emotional meeting at halftime," said veteran center Bob Johnson. "Bill is more spark than we've had here. I think we felt fortunate we were only behind 6-0."

Aroused by the 50-year-old rookie coach with the nickname of "Tiger," the Bengals struck swiftly, with the defense paving the way. Less than three minutes into the second half, Rams quarterback James Harris lost a fumble at the Los Angeles nine-yard line.

Clark bolted into the end zone untouched on Cincinnati's next play and rookie Chris Bahr's conversion kick put the Bengals ahead 7-6, overcoming field goals of 19 and 23 yards by the Rams' Tom Dempsey.

Six minutes later, after taking over near midfield, quarterback Ken Anderson dashed 25 yards to set up the second touchdown. Anderson, shaking off a 2-for-12 first half passing performance, connected on a 30-yard scoring pass to veteran tight end Bob Trumpy.

On the next series, Anderson marched the Bengals 47 yards, hitting Clark with a 17-yard touchdown pass.

The Rams, who outgained Cincinnati 173-57 yards in the first half, were frustrated by former teammate Coy Bacon, who led the Bengals' defensive charge.

"It was a personal thing with him," said Los Angeles running back John Cappelletti, who topped all rushers with 86 yards in 20 carries.

Joe's future clouded

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath's tortured right knee is "worse than ever before" and the celebrated New York Jets' quarterback will undergo intensive examinations today to determine his football future.

Namath, whose knee problems have plagued him since 1965 and kept him sidelined in the Jets' last two National Football League games, is standing on shaky ground, according to team spokesmen.

"The knee is a little more excited than previously," said Dr. Jeffrey Minkoff, an orthopedic surgeon. "The knee has some scar tissue from previous injury and surgery, but it's difficult to say what exactly is wrong."

"It's worse than before," said Jeff Snedeker, the Jets' trainer. "Joe very seldom complains about anything, but this hurts him."

It was believed that repeated pounding of the knee this season — Namath was dumped a dozen times in the first seven games — has created this problem. With Namath on the sidelines, rookie Richard Todd — another alumnus of Alabama — has been the Jets' regular quarterback.

NHL TV series set

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League's Game-of-the-Week will be televised on Monday nights beginning Jan. 3, NHL Vice President Don V. Ruck announced today.

The NHL Network games will be televised in NHL cities plus other major markets throughout the United States.

Mary Albert, veteran hockey broadcaster, will serve as anchor for the telecasts. Albert's broadcast partner will be selected from one of the two teams involved each week. All games, with the exception of the NHL All-Star game and the final game of the season, will begin at 8 p.m., EST.

The All-Star game in Vancouver Jan. 25 will begin at 9 p.m., EST, and the Mar. 28 game will start at 7 p.m., EST.

The telecasts will begin when Montreal meets the Philadelphia Flyers, the team the Canadiens defeated in last season's Stanley Cup championship finals.

Hialeah Park sold

HIALEAH, Fla. (AP) — The city of Hialeah and a New Jersey developer have joined forces to save financially troubled Hialeah Park, buying the historic track for $13.3 million, stockholders say.

Board Chairman John Galbreath said final agreements were signed Monday, with John J. Brunetti, who will operate the 51-year-old thoroughbred race course and control the racing permit.

Under the agreement, the city will purchase the land and lease it back to Brunetti of Old Bridge, N.J., for a term of 30 years. City officials said mortgages would be paid directly from track proceeds.

The deal ends attempts by Gulfstream Track President James Donn Jr. to purchase the rival track. Donn planned to close Hialeah and move its meet to Gulfstream in Hallandale.

Cardinals, Expos deal

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals and Montreal Expos have completed a six-player deal in which the Cards apparently moved to bolster their relief pitching staff.

Coming to St. Louis are right-handed hurler Steve Dunning, switch-hitting outfielder Tony Scott and infielder Pat Scanlon in return for reliever Bill Greif, minor league left-hander Angel Torres and outfielder Sam Mejias.

With the Expos last year Dunning managed only a 2-6 record in 32 games. Earlier, however, the 27-year-old Stanford graduate compiled a 15-9 record in Denver, gaining him the Pitcher of the Year selection in the American Association.

Greif had a 2-8 record with the Cards last year.

LPGA tourney to new course

NEW YORK — The Ladies Professional Golf Association $150,000-purse championship will be moved to the Bay Tree Golf Plantation in North Myrtle Beach, S.C., in 1977, according to LPGA Commissioner Ray Volpe and South Carolina Gov. James Edwards.

Panthers into top spot

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Winners tell jokes. Coach John Majors warned his jovial Pitt football players, while the losers say "Deal!"

The No. 1-ranked Panthers basked in the limelight and the television lights Monday as word came to their locker room that they had been voted the best college football team.

As they raised their index fingers to signal their new status, a stern but happy coach warned that while it was tough getting there, it would be tougher staying there.

"The wind blows harder the higher you sit on the flag pole," said Majors.

The undefeated Panthers replaced Michigan in the Associated Press poll in the wake of Purdue's 16-14 victory over the Wolverines Saturday. Michigan dropped to fourth place.

Ranked No. 2 behind Michigan for the last six weeks, Pitt now leads UCLA, Southern Cal, and fifth-place Texas Tech.

"These next two weeks, this is real college football," said Majors, reminding his Panthers that they still face rivals West Virginia University Saturday in a regionally televised game and Penn State Nov. 26 in a nationally televised bout.

"They're all out there waiting for something to happen to us. But Pitt is the only team that can beat Pitt."

Running back Tony Dorsett, who has passed some milestones of his own en route to national prominence with Pitt, said the top ranking was "one of the most happiest feelings in the world."

"For a freshman coming in or a senior going out, it's great," said Dorsett.

Majors, nattily glad in team colors of blue and gold, stood before the sweat-soaked and tasseled ball players and warned them to keep their feet on the ground and their eyes on the game just ahead.

"To be No. 1 is a hell of a tough thing to get to and it's a thing to relish."

"But wait 'til you see how hard it is to stay there."

Rounding out the top ten are Maryland, Georgia, Ohio State, Nebraska and Alabama. Missouri is 11th, followed by Houston, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida, Texas A&M, Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Colorado and South Carolina.

Pitt got 49 out of a possible 63 first-place votes. UCLA picked up seven, Southern California two, Michigan two, Maryland two and Texas Tech one.

Quickness, size keys for 'Birds

By RON HIGGINS
Staff SportsWriter

COLE CAMP — The Cole Camp Blue Birds, under the coaching leadership of veteran Bob Farrington, entered the Kaysinger Conference Tournament with the third seed.

Last year the Blue Birds held the No. 2 seed at the annual tourney in Lincoln. Farrington said he isn't at all disappointed his Cole Camp team dropped a notch in the seedings this year. "After last year, the seedings don't really mean that much at all," said Farrington. "All the seedings can be based on is what the teams have returning from last year."

Those returning from last year's Blue Bird varsity are 6-2 senior guard Kim Gooch. Cole Camp's leading scorer last season, 6-3, forward Delwyn Duncan, and 6-4 center Tom Schroeder. "These three seniors are what we will basically be building our club around, but we have some juniors and sophomores who are going to contribute this year," said Farrington.

Greg Harms, a 6-2 guard and Jerry Robinson, a 6-3 forward completes the starting five for Farrington's club. "These five give us a pretty competitive five," said Farrington.

Allen is free

PHILADELPHIA — Dick Allen, the controversial first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, officially became a free agent and will enter a special free agent draft to be held within the next three days.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes admits the existence of bigtime college football players selling or trading their tickets.

However, such a thing irritates the fiery Hayes, noted for his straightness on and off the field.

"We do everything we can to discourage it, but it's impossible to completely discourage it. We stay on top of it," he said Monday. "I've never in any way said we're perfect. We sure as heck work in that direction."

Hayes, for 26 seasons the coach at the Big Ten Conference school, was responding to comments from two of his former co-captains, both now playing in the National Football League.

Safety Tim Fox of the New England Patriots was quoted as saying that players, as well as assistant coaches, swap their Ohio State season tickets for the use of cars from Columbus, Ohio auto dealers.

Linebacker Rick Middleton of the San Diego Chargers contended that he used money derived from his sale of tickets for college spending money.

Bob Ries, Ohio State ticket director, said that each player receives two to four complimentary season tickets, depending on the number of years he has played on the varsity.

In addition, the players can buy two to five tickets per game.

"A player, however, does not see the tickets," said Ries. "He has to designate the person to receive them. They are mailed to that person by the university. That is an NCAA regulation."

Ries conceded that the university has no control over who gets the tickets or what kind of exchange is worked out.

Tickets at Ohio State are particularly valuable since the defending Big Ten champions have played before 49 straight sellouts in Ohio Stadium.

"Counting faculty and alumni, we had to turn down 13,000 requests for season tickets this year," said Ries.

Meanwhile, Hayes said that Michigan's upset by Purdue last week could be a psychological bonus for his team, now the sole leader in the conference.

"It might make them a little more careful this weekend," Hayes said of his plays, preparing for a Saturday visit to third-place Minnesota. "Just so they don't get too tight."

Gremlins fall in overtime

1st-round action tight at tournament

By RON HIGGINS
Staff SportsWriter

LINCOLN — The 46th Annual Kaysinger Conference got underway Monday evening with three hard-fought games.

The LaMonte Vikings pulled the only upset thus far in the tournament by slipping past the Northwest (Hughesville) Mustangs, 43-41, on a Scott Rieckhoff bank shot at the final buzzer. In the other two games, the fourth-seeded Green Ridge Tigers needed an overtime period to outlast Sacred Heart, seeded fifth, 69-62 and the second-seeded Smithton Tigers dealt the host and seventh-seeded Cardinals a 39-37 defeat.

The LaMonte victory broke a 20-game losing streak for the Vikings.

Steve Schroeder put the Mustangs ahead 41-39 by sinking both ends of one-and-one a free throw with 1:14 remaining in the contest.

LaMonte senior Steve Dillion sank a field goal moments later putting his Vikings back even with Northwest before Rieckhoff's heroic shot.

The Vikings went into the second half with a 17-14 lead and the Mustangs failed to catch up until late in the third period when freshman center Wayne Childers of the Vikings grabbed the net on a shot by Northwest's Schroeder. Schroeder's bucket locked the score at 25, but the Vikings held a 27-25 advantage at the end of the quarter.

Midway through the final period, Don Reid scored a Mustang bucket on a tip-in and gave Northwest a 35-33 lead, from there the game went into a see-saw battle.

Farrington believes Cole Camp is the toughest non-conference schedule with such teams as Knob Noster, Leeton, Eldon, and others.

"We've got good people back, but we don't have the depth that we had last year," said Farrington. "We have a couple of inexperienced people at key positions, so I feel very strongly that our squad is going to be the type that will come on strong toward the end of the season."

Even though the squad is young, Farrington believes his team will be more aggressive this year over last.

Talking about the tournament, Farrington said you have to look toward the teams that have more seasoned performers. "Of course, Stover is a name that is going to pop into everybody's mind, but you just never know."

"When we put forth a season outlook," said Farrington, "I'd have to sit down and look at our club and say that our keys this year are how our inexperienced performers are going to come around for us. We're going to have good team quickness and we're big, too."

Coach Farrington said it's hard to evaluate his players in practice. "You've got to see what they're going to do against another club," he said.

Schroeder led all scorers with 19 points while LaMonte's Rieckhoff poured in 12 points for the Vikings.

The Green Ridge Tigers scored the last six points in overtime to defeat the Gremlins in the second game of opening-round action.

Green Ridge's Jim Binder led the Tiger charge with 20 points. At one point in the second quarter, Binder sank five out of the final seven field goals for the Tigers at the close of the first half giving Green Ridge a 35-25 halftime advantage.

John Borchers led a Sacred Heart rally in the third quarter. The 5-11 senior capped a six-point Gremlin scoring spree. Dan Fall tied the score at 45-45 with :50 left to play in the third stanza, but

MU setback clouds NU bowl picture

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said Monday the Big Eight conference race's outcome still looks cloudy despite the fact his football Huskers are ahead now.

"If we had beaten Missouri, we'd have a real edge," Osborne told the Extra Point Club. "But since we didn't, there isn't much breathing room with five other teams grouped with 3-2 records behind our 4-1 mark."

Osborne said the tight conference title chase could hurt the Big Eight in the bowl game selection derby.

"It could be that three or four teams will still have a chance for the Orange Bowl bid when we come up to our game against Oklahoma on Nov. 26," he said.

"But most of the bowls will make their selections on the 20th," he noted.

The Big Eight winner automatically wins a trip to the Orange Bowl under a new pact, but the selection committee could pick the team if the conference title ends in a tie.

John Batrouny's jumper with 19 seconds left gave Green Ridge a 47-45 lead advancing into the fourth quarter.

Near the end of regulation play, Bruce Dooley scored for Sacred Heart and gave the Grem's a 57-55 lead. The Gremlins then went into a stall offense, but two consecutive steals by the Tigers netted four points for Green Ridge giving them a 59-57 lead. Borchers then sent the game into overtime with a long jump shot.

In the night's finale, a last-chance effort by the Lincoln Cardinals backfired on a free throw attempt by 6-3 Cardinal center John Keehn.

Keehn brought the Cardinals within three, 39-36, late in the game, but on a two-shot foul, Keehn sank the first shot and tossed the ball off the backboard on the second shot in hopes of one of his teammates or himself grabbing the rebound, but Smithton came up with the rebound with only five seconds remaining and sat on the lead.

Smithton never trailed in the game and held a 19-16 halftime lead. By the close of the third period, Smithton's margin was four points, 28-24.

Smithton's John Hays gained game honors with his 15 points. Keehn popped in 14 for the Cardinals in a losing effort.

Just to note how close the three games were, the winning teams only won by a combined total of 151-140, 11 points difference.

Soccer Tigers ousted from state soccer play

ST. LOUIS — "I think the score tells most of the story," a dejected Paul McNally said Tuesday morning of his team's 6-0 Monday afternoon loss to second-seeded Hazelwood Central in the Missouri State High School Activities Association's District (No. 1) Soccer Tournament.

"Central dominated the entire game...they have a strong soccer program in the St. Louis area and it really pays off in high school," McNally added.

Smith-Cotton, which breezed through the regular season with a 10-1-0 record and only allowed two goals during that 11-game span, moved into the district quarterfinals Friday with a 2-0 victory over North County Tech, only to catch the brunt of the Hawk's offensive attack.

It took Hazelwood Central only five minutes to put their first score on the board. By the half, Smith-Cotton, which finished the season with an 11-2-0 mark, was trailing 5-0.

S-C managed only nine shots on goal; the Hawks were credited with 16.

The MSHSAA's soccer playoffs will continue through Nov. 20 here in the St. Louis area. The surviving two teams meet that day at O'Fallon Tech for the state championship.

South's one-spade overall was about as weak as you will ever see in good competition, but it almost got him a good result. North raised him to three spades and he would have made this contract if he hadn't run into brilliant defense.

West opened the deuce of hearts. East started the good defense by winning with the queen so that he could be sure where the king of hearts was. Then he led back his 10 of diamonds.

South covered with the jack and ducked in dummy after West played his queen. Note that if South took that trick,
